

Collaboration Example:
Librarian, faculty, and instructional technologist collaboration project to help students find and use multimedia to improve their academic projects.

I. Project Definition: Objectives and Activities/Strategies

What is the project? What are goals, objectives, and related activities? What exactly do you want to evaluate? What is your key "make a difference" concept?

Project participants will ...

Poor example:

...develop an understanding of each other

Better example:

...identify specific skills/expertise of each other that will support classroom learning

Another objective involving appreciation or satisfaction

...

At your table, as a group, create two or three activities and/or strategies that will help fulfill the objectives related to appreciation or satisfaction.